Question	Answer
Q6 — Biggest Challenges Facing the Sector & Actions Candidates Would Support	The biggest challenge I see facing nonprofits and charities is the lack of funding and/or reduction in funding for services. As councilor, I would like to create a committee, to hear and work with organizations to achieve the best outcomes for all parties involved.
Q7 — Support a Formal, Ongoing Dialogue Mechanism With the Sector (Yes/No + Why)	Yes
Q8 — Support Multi-Year Funding & Longer-Term Partnerships (Yes/No + Why)	Yes — Yes, I support multi-year funding. Social problems are not quick fixes and anyone who treats them that way doesn't have a good understanding of sociology, psychology and/or health care. When stability is offered and measurable outcome targets are set and achieved both parties can work toward the longterm societal fixes that are needed.
Q9 — Ensuring Nonprofits Are Included in Decision-Making	Bringing nonprofits to the table is important. Like lobbyist groups, the information that is provided by these frontline organizations is crucial to making the right decisions for our community. I believe the best way to achieve this is by creating both a subcommittee where discussions about goals and funding can be discussed, and perhaps by having groups register as lobbyist groups at no cost. Both of these methods would help nonprofits and charities be heard.
Q10 — The City's Role in Supporting Nonprofit Infrastructure	I think the nonprofit sector is perhaps one of our best partners to address a number of the social issues that need to be addressed in the city. It is my goal to work with organizations to create long-term solutions to important matters like the unhoused, opportunities for youth, address mental health, food security, and other social needs.
Q11 — The Nonprofit Sector's Role & What Success Looks Like	I would like to see a strong roll in addressing the rehabilitation of the unhoused here in London. I would also like to see more being done to help with food security, general housing and more opportunities for youth from lower socio-economic backgrounds. I believe that when you help people succeed and provide them with opportunities, great things can happen.
Q12 — Other Priorities Candidates Wanted the Sector to Know	My mom was a frontline worker for the men's homeless shelter in Brampton when I was a teen. I learned a lot about the situation. She was also a single mom and we relied on food banks to make ends meet. I too was a single mom, and used the assistance of programs like the right to work, to help cover child care so that I could work. I truly understand the importance of our social system and how important a roll they play. The programs offered by nonprofits and charities are things that I will strongly advocate for and support my whole life.
